L.A. Inconsequential

Leave Cahuenga sunset to cut-throats and prey Skirt Santa Monica hills and San Fernando valleys

where cougars prowl and hot MILFs slither
from closed sets into backlot trailers

Feel the fit of unpaved road where Wildcats maul abandoned schitzus and teens are massaged by wolves

Here
snore evenings of wine and roses bruised in desert shade

There sleep cherished scoundrels sealed in silver flame and fading light

Morning sky is angeles recast in noir amnesia

Sunrise births a second horizon a lilac hem to kiss its own ass

Doubled over on the walk of fame starlets reach for rising light like winos shivering through tai chi under sprinklers in the park be afraid to change everything

Lose the lanyard

revive the noose

& quit yer ruttin' till we tally the ledger

Send all babies born

Covet the last

Ship junkies to Afghanistan they'll smoke the place for real

Borrow someone's cancer

now's the time to learn

Grow orchids in your groins

Excavate Arizona Bay

Exhume Marilyn

Expunge Bobby K

Unmake the machines

Shackle the Kraken
